FRISCO, TX – The news media has recently reported on a case that indicates the Frisco Police Department was attempting to stifle a citizen's first amendment rights. The case has been filed and the facts will be introduced in the court of competent jurisdiction. Our charge is to introduce evidence before a court and let the court decide the appropriateness of the charge. There is plenty of opportunity to second guess the actions of a police officer and an entire police department after the final judgment is rendered. We appreciate everyone's patience in understanding the procedures we are required to follow.
